Nulty, Head of Global Sponsorships, Allianz SE

“A key part of the partnership between St Andrews Links Trust and Allianz is increasing accessibility to the sport. Manuel's achievements serve as inspiration to able-bodied and disabled golfers alike.”

Alan McGregor, CEO St Andrews Links Trust:

“We are pleased that Manuel will be taking part in the Alfred Dunhill Links Championship and wish him all the best for the event. In a short time Manuel has achieved a very high standard in the game becoming the second highest ranked disabled golfer in Europe. Encouraging wider participation in golf and sport in general is important to us at St Andrews Links and to our global partners Allianz.”

Manuel de los Santos, 2nd in the European Order of Merit disabled golf and Allianz Ambassador:

"It is my first European tour event and I am thrilled to be representing the partnership with Allianz at the Home of Golf."

"I am really pleased Allianz is joining forces with St Andrews Links Trust."

"It is a dream for me to play at the Old Course. So many greats of the game have played here and it has a special place in the heart of any golfer."

“The partnership is helping people learn about the origins of the sport - people from Germany, France, Spain, Latin America, people all over the world. That's something I totally support.”

Paul McGinley, PGA European tour professional, Ryder Cup winner and Allianz Ambassador

"It is great that the partnership between Allianz and St Andrews Links is honouring Manuel in this way. He has achieved a high standard very quickly and is already playing with the professionals on the Allianz Golf Tour. I am sure he is going to be around for a long time to come."
